September 10th, 1915

Major J. W. S. McCullough, M.D., D.P.H.,

Secretary of Health, Toronto.

Dear Dr. McCullough:

I have spoken to Professor Fitzgerald about the generous offer that you made to the University ~~that~~ the use of your new laboratories for purposes of instruction in connection with our Departments of Hygiene and Sanitary Science in the University of Toronto. He agrees with me that it is a very generous offer, and that the accommodation that you propose to allow us to enjoy would be of very great service to us. I am therefore writing at once to Professor Amyot, the head of the department, and laying the matter before him as Dr. Fitzgerald feels that he cannot take the responsibility with consulting Dr. Amyot for making re-arrangements for rooms. As soon as I hear from Dr. Amyot I will communicate with you and I hope that delay as to a final acceptance will not in any way be an inconvenience to you. Assuring you of our appreciation of your offer, which I will mention to the Board of Governors,

I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Major McCullough,

Provincial Medical Health Officer,

Toronto.

Dear Dr. McCullough:

Yesterday at the Board of Governors I reported that you had formally offered to the University the use of the Provincial Health Experimental Station for instruction and research in connection with the university departments of Sanitary Engineering and Hygiene. I informed the Governors that you offer the laboratories free of expense except for the reagents which would be used by the students and for any breakage that they might cause; also, that you were kind enough to say that your Chemist in charge might be authorised to oversee the work of such students were no university instructor present.

I am glad to say that the Board of Governors have authorised me to accept your offer and at the same time have instructed me to express their thanks for your generosity.

Yours sincerely,

President.
